CITY COUNCIL STUDIES ASSESSMENT ERRORS

Legion Stages Barbecue

A lot of leather was thrown during the two boxing bouts which featured the annual American Legion barbecue at Indian Village Sunday. Two soldier-scrappers from the Monterey Presidio are shown in action in the upper picture. The lower picture is of a few of the guests who were attempting to dispose of a portion of the 100 pounds of steaks which were barbecued for the event.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Tyrrell-Martin left last week for the East where Mr. Tyrrell-Martin will participate in the polo tournaments on Long Island this summer. They plan to return to their Pebble Beach home in August.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Sparks left Saturday for a ten day vacation which will take them to Boulder Dam and through Southern California.

MACBETH DIES

As a result of a heart attack suffered during the morning, Malcomb Macbeth, well known Carmel business man, died in the Community Hospital early Sunday night.

Macbeth had been a resident of Carmel for about three years. He was a native of St. Louis, Mo., and a graduate of Princeton university. He had conducted an interior decorating and antique shop here and had acquired several pieces of valuable real estate.

Surviving him are one brother, George Macbeth, of Los Angeles, and two sisters, Mrs. George Knapp and Mrs. Claire Dickey, both of St. Louis. Plans were being made today for shipment of the body to St. Louis for interment.

Saidee Van Brower Must Explain Audit of Books

For some reason which we can not explain, we have been solvent to tears. Last week, we had The Californian ready to go on the news stands at 6 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. On the front page, we featured a story, correct in every detail, concerning the audit of the city books which revealed errors in assessments amounting to $2,634.77.

Before these copies reached the news stands and went into the mail, pressure (and tears) were brought to bear upon us and, in a moment of weakness, we agreed to recall the edition and went to the expense of replating and reprinting our first page, which involved three other pages.

We reached the news stands and the mail Wednesday afternoon with the "Pollyanna" type of front page which you read. The same afternoon, a special meeting of the council was called to receive that audit and our contemporaries "scooped" us on our exclusive story.

Our contemporaries are in a position to scoop us again this week as the council meets tonight and the principal business of the evening will be discussion of that audit.

We have ceased to be soft-hearted, and solvent to tears, and will attempt to give you a preview of what is going to happen tonight.

These errors in assessments are too serious for the council to overlook, as it did last fall, when Miss Van Brower had to produce more than $400 to cover errors which had been discovered and led to this audit.

A copy of the audit is to be sent to the Royal Indemnity Company, which furnished her bond as city clerk and tax assessor. If this company should revoke her bond, she, as a holder of an elective office, would have three alternatives. She could resign her post, procure bond through another company or post a personal bond. The council has no power to remove her from office.

The following figures are taken from the summary of the audit presented to the council by C. L. Shaff, certified accountant, and is supposed to show the amounts missing on the various improvement bonds due to omissions in assessments, interest uncollected and penalties unimposed:

Kuster Makes Formal Request for Damages

Edward G. Kuster's claim against the city for $65,000 damages, due to the loss of his Theater of the Golden Bough by fire two years ago, was formally presented to the city council at a special meeting Thursday night and received an exceedingly chilly reception.

The claim was not only disallowed but Kuster was placed upon "the spot" when the council ordered a copy of the letter turned over to the district attorney with instructions to investigate Kuster's charge that "the immediate occasion for the disaster was the incendiary act of an individual, acting under agreement of himself and several persons."

As soon as the communication had been read to the council, City Attorney Argyll Campbell asked that the claim be disallowed and that the council refrain from discussing it. Then he asked that a copy of the letter be sent to the district attorney. Both of his suggestions were put in the form of motions and carried by unanimous votes.

The claim was received by registered mail and was regarded as a formal demand for payment of damages. Its rejection, it is understood, would mean that Kuster would proceed with his suit against the city, which has been filed in the superior court in Salinas.

Kuster is asking $65,000 damages, which, he claims, represents the difference between the insurance he collected and the actual value of the property. He contends that the city is responsible for the loss because it had not provided adequate fire protection for his theater.

Mr. and Mrs. Nion Tucker of San Mateo were the house-guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Magee of Pebble Beach, last week-end.

IN MUSIC JINKS

Proving that the Directors of the Carmel Music Society are nothing if not versatile, the quartet above have run the gamut from the sublime to the ridiculous in presenting, at the conclusion of the season, their annual Jinx.

The coy young things in the

Sunset Graduation

Forty-seven members of the graduating class of the Sunset school received their diplomas last night at the commencement exercises held in the auditorium of the school.

Of the class, 23 were girls and 24 were boys.

The procession of graduates was followed by two selections by the Glee Club, "Lo, Morning Fair and Rosy" and "Waltz," by Brahms, selected and directed by Miss Madeline Currey.

"The Book of the Class of 1937" a portrayal of desirable character and personality traits, was presented by the class and directed by Mr. Arthur C. Hull. Following this skit Mr. O. W. Bardarson, the principal, addressed the class.

The moment for which each graduate had striven arrived when Mr. Adolph G. E. Hanke, chairman of the board of trustees, presented the diplomas to the following: Katherine Baggett, Lucille Finn, Eleanor Hart, Harriet Hatton, Donna Hodges, Marjorie Hoyt, Betsy Hunter, Jacqueline Klein, Carol Larson, Charlotte May, Madeline McDonogh, Elaine McEntire, Yvonne Mercurio, Ann Millis, Dorothy Nash, Lillian Ohm, Geraldine Shephard, Mary Jane Uzzell, Alice Vidoroni, Clara May Walls, Joan Warren, Ann Whitman, Emma Ann Wishart, Martin Artellan, Donald Berry, Alfred Black, John Castro, William Coffin, Evan Cowley, George De Amara, Hugh Dormody, Peter Elliott, Robert Frolli, Charles Gansel, Robert Gargiulo, George Gossler, Harold Johnson, Orville Jones, Bobby Mayes, Irving Parker, Gerald Ray, Edward Ricketts, Monty Stearns, Arthur Strassburger, Danny Villapando, Colden Whitman and Richard Williams.

SEEKS PROBATION

Several local real estate and insurance men are expected to oppose granting probation to Myron Gardner, local insurance salesman who pleaded guilty in the Monterey justice court last week to a charge of petty theft.

Byington Ford, who employed Gardner, caused his arrest after he is alleged to have sold policies and failed to turn in the money collected. Ford is said to have given Gardner several months in which to refund the money and when this was not done he signed a warrant for his arrest.

ASSOCIATION TO MEET

The Carmel Business Association will meet at Pine Inn Friday at eight p.m. The speaker of the evening will be District Attorney Anthony Brazil and his subject will be "The Unfair Trade Act."

Visiting Mr. A. C. LaFrenz last week-end, was his nephew, Bill LaFrenz of Honolulu.

"Wolo" Visits Carmel

We were quite surprised, as well as pleased, when "Wolo," former staff artist of The San Francisco Chronicle, dropped into the office last week to renew acquaintances.

This "Wolo" is one of the most unique individuals it has been our pleasure to know. He has a most distinctive technique in his drawings and his personality is just as unique as his technique. His drawings border upon the grotesque but they are real character studies and are as pleasing to his victims as to the public.

He has just returned from Hollywood and Los Angeles where he has been making drawings of numerous celebrities.

Until a few weeks ago, his real name was Baron Wulf Anton Erhardt Georg Trutschler von Falkenstein. When his final citizenship papers were granted, all of that was reduced to Erhardt Trutschler.

He is one of those individuals who can't relax. The "Tatters" production at the First Theater in Monterey appealed to him and he Entered as second-class matter, February 3, 1933, at the postoffice at Carmel, California, under the Act of March 3, 1879. The Californian, formerly The Carmel Sun, was adjudicated a Newspaper of General Circulation by the Superior Court of Monterey County, California, October 7, 1936.

Subscription rate $2 per year.

A few weeks ago we called upon Edward G. Kuster to come out into the open and quit making insinuations about some mysterious arsonist he believes to be responsible for the destruction of his Theater of the Golden Bough.

We heartily approve of City Attorney Argyll Campbell's action in having a copy of Kuster's letter sent to the district attorney with instructions to investigate the incendiary angle.

This action may cause Kuster to make some definite charge—or stop making insinuations. As we said before, Kuster has been placing a number of his "friendly enemies" here under a nasty cloud of suspicion.

If there is anything to justify his insinuations, we hope that Kuster will co-operate with the district attorney and that a complete investigation will be made. If Carmel is harboring an arsonist we want to see him brought to justice. If there are sufficient facts to justify it, we feel that the investigation should have been launched immediately after the fire.

Idiotorials

By JACK WILLIAMSON

We understand, and have witnesses to prove, that Dick Bare, local movie mogul, and Miss Barbara Joyce, of Oakland, were safely married in Salinas last week.

However, we can't understand why "Strangers on a Honeymoon" opened at the Filmarte, Dick's galloping snapshots emporium, immediately after the wedding and ran until the bride and groom returned to Carmel Sunday.

Here is one right fresh from our Bigger and Better Idea factory. The unexpected drought which struck Monterey county Friday is responsible for it.

There is a law in California, a relic of the horse-and-buggy days, which closes all beer gardens, tap rooms, cocktail lounges and what have you on election days. School trustees were being elected throughout Monterey county Friday and the entire county was as dry as it should have been during the days of prohibition.

We saw a lot of pathetic cases and their plights were responsible for us giving birth (Caesarean) to the following idea:

We suggest (idiotorially, of course), that the state legislature amend that law slightly and thereby create some real interest in our trivial elections.

Let the beer gardens, tap rooms, cocktail lounges and what have you remain open on election days but make it necessary for each thirsty pilgrim to present a receipt from the election board, showing that he has voted, before he can be served.

Unless we are badly mistaken, this would result in an early stampede for the election booths.

The purpose of this goofy law, as we understand it, is to prevent Messieurs Tom Collins and Johnny Walker from influencing John Public in the matter of casting his ballot. After John casts that ballot, the election board should not object if he decided to take a cruise down the Old Green River on the Good Ship Rock and Rye. He would be as harmless then as a safety razor at a Negro camp meeting.

Having had our fling in the movie racket, it was only natural that we should fall in with Director Mason Hooper and his M. G. M. unit, which has been filming scenes in the sand dunes at the foot of Ocean avenue for "Double Wedding," a William Powell and Myrna Loy production, and background scenes at Point Lobos for Greta Garbo's "Madame Walensky."

William Powell and Myrna Loy were not present but Dr. William Warren Dearborn, a Hollywood chiropractor who has been doubling for Powell for seven years, and Lucile House, who has doub-

Introducing Our Artists

Last week, we introduced one of our younger artists. This week, we are introducing a younger one. She is Dorothea Dawson, 17, a junior at Monterey High School.

Her art work, especially her block prints, has attracted wide attention. Several of her prints have won awards in Eastern exhibits during the last couple of years. She was commissioned to do all of the art work in the high school annual this year and, as there are so many young artists on the peninsula, that is quite an honor.

Despite her youth, Miss Dawson has worked up quite a thriving business in Carmel. In addition to her personal greeting cards, she turns out block printed linens which are on sale in several of the local gift shops.

BROWNIE PICNIC

Pack One, Carmel Brownies, under the leadership of Mrs. Edward David and Mrs. Ernest F. Morehouse, and Pack Four, whose leader is Mrs. Fred Mylar, held a picnic Saturday at the Seventeen Mile-Drive picnic grounds. The girls, between the ages of seven and ten, did all the things little girls do on picnics. The event was a great success.

Mrs. Talbert Josselyn, chairman, Mrs. William Dekker, Mrs. C. B. Gorham and Mrs. Donald Walker compose the Carmel Pack committee. Miss Mary Ackroyd was in charge.

MASONS DINE

Thirty members of Carmel Lodge No. 660, F. and A. M. attended a dinner Friday evening in the Blue Bird tea room arranged by Charles A. Watson, first master and first past master, in honor of the second anniversary of the founding of the Lodge.

Walter Gaddum was toastmaster. Ralph Zuck, worshipful master, Don Stanford and Dr. W. T. Kibbler, dean of Masonry and president of the Carmel Masonic club, spoke briefly.

Watson was presented with his own Scottish Rite ring, decorated with advancement emblems, in appreciation of his services.

led for Myrna for the last five years, were on the job.

Miss House and Doctor Dearborn were our guests at the American Legion barbecue held at the Indian Village Sunday afternoon. We got a real kick out of introducing them as Loy and Powell.

Director Hooper and two of his cameramen joined the party later. They had completed their work in Carmel and wanted to relax. They played just as hard as they had worked and made a decided hit with the crowd.

Mrs. Alfred Wolff of San Antonio street was a dinner hostess last week to Mr. and Mrs. Adam Darling, Mrs. F. W. Tenwinkle and Mr. Robert Leathe. The evening ended with a pleasant surprise when Mr. Wolff, who has been in New York for the past two months, arrived unexpectedly.

Mrs. Max Frankenau of San Francisco, sister of Mr. George Coblentz of San Antonio street is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Coblentz, having come to Carmel to be present at the graduation of her niece Patty, from Monterey high school.

Mrs. Thomas Mulvin was hostess at a luncheon party Friday, later taking her guests to the races at Del Monte. Those who were present were Mrs. Thomas Bunn, Mrs. John Abernethy, Mrs. Louis Jorgenson, Miss Marguerite Tickle, Miss Jean Shaw and Miss Mary Hopkins of Pasadena.

The McCreerys, Sally and Mac, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Roscoe of Belmont over the weekend and on Sunday morning they invited a number of friends to a breakfast party to meet the weekenders. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Ted Sierka, Mrs. Kistler and daughter Joan, and Mr. Kelly Clark.

Negatives

Neil Weston writes that he is hard at work on the construction of a 32 foot, gaff-rigged catch, with double head sails, and if his present luck holds out, he expects to finish it in three or four years. The boat is being built at his mother's ranch in Southern California.

Time was when Neil and Sam Coblenz were known throughout the Village for their prowess with "The Goon," a sloop which they built themselves. "The Goon" had a wonderful life and a fine set of adventures and finally came to an honorable resting place in Davy Jones' Locker.

The Steinbecks bought it from the boys, when they went away to school, then sold it to friends in Pacific Grove, who in turn gave it to Gretchen Schoeninger, who gave it to her sister Hester who was the last owner (until a storm blew "The Goon" to the four winds.)

When the Hawaiian Clipper arrived at the Alameda Airport last week, one of the passengers was former Carmelite Esta Broughton, who lived on Casanova street and conducted classes in short story and play writing. Miss Broughton, who is now on the faculty of the University of Hawaii, boarded the Clipper in Honolulu on 45 minutes' notice, in a race with death to the bedside of her father, a retired banker of Modesto.

Apropos of nothing. A nomination for the town's most dashing couple. Tall, blonde and lovely Jane Bunn and her equally tall, blonde and attractive husband Tom.

Peas from the same pod (after the manner of O. O. McIntyre). Laidlaw Williams and Freddie Bartholemew in their respective characterizations of Little Lord Fauntleroy. Similarity caused much comment at Music Society Jinx Monday evening.

Winston Frost, who for some months has lent his soft southern drawl and gallant manner to local social functions, will leave June eighth for his old Virginia home; his return to California's sunny clime is highly improbable.

For the past few months the favorite indoor sport of various groups of society, in many cities, has been the making up of lists of tentative casts from among one's friends, for a dramatization of "Gone With the Wind." Realizing that Carmel, with its two thousand actors, any one of them able to don a "you all" and a "sho nuff" at a cue, would be the Mecca for a casting director, we have inveigled, at random, several Villagers to compose lists of their friends whom they deem most suited to the roles of Scarlett

O'Hara and the other characters of the book.

IMELMAN TAKES DIVE

Just in case you should meet Conrad Imelman during the next few days and notice his battered face and two beautiful "shiners," don't ask him if he ran into a door in the dark.

As we go to press, Conrad is in the Community hospital where a couple of doctors and a corps of nurses are endeavoring to remodel his badly battered facial features.

He is building a new house next door to his home and early Sunday night he thought he heard someone prowling around in the new structure. Without benefit of flashlight, he started an investigation. It seems that there is a hole in the floor where a set of basement stairs are to be installed when the carpenters get around to it.

In the dark, Imelman found this hole and went into a nose dive through it, landing upon his face on the concrete floor of the basement.

Mrs. Wick W. Parsons of Fresno, has recently arrived in Carmel where she will spend the summer months.

Colonel and Mrs. C. E. Hathaway of San Antonio street left last week for a fortnight's holiday in Yosemite.

Miss Lydia Weld (above) will conduct her first meeting as president of the Monterey County League of Women Voters this afternoon at the Big Sur country home of Mrs. Carl Voss, the outgoing president.

Miss Weld was, for 13 years, connected with the engineering department of the Newport News Shipyards and during the World War was the only woman to hold the post of naval architect. She received her training at the Boston Institute of Technology. With her brother, Reverend George F. Weld, the rector of All Saints Church in Montecito, Miss Weld owned and operated an alfalfa ranch in Southern California for several years after her retirement. The new chapel of the Divinity School in Berkeley was dedicated recently to the memory of Reverend Weld after whose death two years ago Miss Weld came to Carmel to make her permanent home.

Friday evening Emma Ann Wishart honored the members of her class at a dancing party held in the Parish Hall of All Saint's Church. Those who were present were Dorothy Nash, Elaine McEntire, Harriet Hatton, Madelaine McDonogh, Betsy Hunter, Alice

With the Amateur Photographers

THESE AMATEURS

This is one week when we wish we had a jury of awards at our disposal so that we would not have to be placed in the position of having to select a winner from the two prints we are using on this page.

We spent a lot of time studying these prints before we decided to give the $5 prize to Valona Brewer for her picture made from the National Gallery, in London, with St. Martin's church in the background. There is a certain softness about it that we like and, at the same time critical detail from the tile in the foreground back to the church, which is given a pleasing framing between the columns.

Myron Kerner deserves more than honorable mention for his picture of the budding yucca which he found in the Santa Barbara National Forest. His composition is good and the sharpness of point of interest shows that he knows how to use his focus to the best advantage. However, if this page is to serve the purpose of aiding amateurs to turn out better pictures, we must offer what we hope will be taken as constructive criticism. The tip off he bud is against a white sky. To make it stand out, he had to do a little retouching. The etched outline is obvious. A more pleasing result could have been obtained by using a crayon on the print to give a tone value to that tip. We feel that the print is a little too contrasty and would have been improved if he had given more time in printing or had used a little softer grade of paper.
